

American Oil Executives Say They Were Virtually Prisoners Within Mexico

Up—that is, the 14 bachelor members of the Hawaii Ski Club, who execute telemarks on a quiescent volcano's flanks, have the matter under advisement.

The youth organization, the world's only tropical skiing club, will admit women who can survive the two-day hike to the 7,900-foot level on Mauna Kea, extinct volcano near here.

A heavy snowfall on Mauna Kea, which rises 14,000 feet above this island's palm-fringed shores, prompted several expeditions this year to skiing grounds, which veterans describe as excellent.

Family Division of Catholic Charities

Bringing bread to the needy, hope to the downhearted, spiritual consolation to the depressed and rehabilitating thousands of homes a year, is the stupendous task being accomplished by the Family Division of New York Catholic Charities which has agents in every county of the archdiocese and last year expended $750,000 for family relief.

The work of the Family Division was made public today in connection with the annual appeal of Catholic Charities to be conducted in the parishes March 27 to April 4, the period designated by Father Cardinal Hayes.

Acting as liaison between the 214 agencies of Catholic Charities and the individual in need, Miss Grace Connolly, a trained social worker, serves 114,000 counts for the Family Division.

"My work in Ulster county," Miss Connolly says, "is a ceaseless round of activity centering about the one objective—to alleviate human suffering whether the cause be unemployment, sickness, marital difficulties, maladjustment, youth problems or any other reason that tends to break up the home or break down the individual."

"We have to be veritable encyclopedias of information as to how, where and why the individual in need can be assisted. Sometimes I work through home relief bureaus or departments of public welfare, other times through contact, guidance and advice and still again through the resources made available to me through Catholic Charities."

No play or novel could be more dramatic and colorful than a day in the life of Miss Connolly and the other county agents who are called upon to use their years of training and experience, their sympathy, understanding, diplomacy and knowledge of human nature in handling the hundreds of cases that are sent to them by pastors, courts, children's agents, public departments and others.

Rondout Valley Scouts Had Big Indoor Rally

The annual indoor Boy Scout rally of the Rondout Valley district took place Saturday, March 19, and was one of the most enthusiastic in the history of the Rondout Valley.

The gymnasium of the high school was filled with parents and friends of the boys and all troops turned out in large numbers. The program consisted of several contests, demonstrations and stunts as well as some set exhibits.

Troop No. 27 had a realistic camp scene and displayed types of cooking and camp fires and came third place with the judges.

Troop No. 28 displayed various handicrafts and interest activities and took fourth place.

All exhibits showed considerable care in planning and were very well done.

The judges included Clarence Hombek, C. C. Stauffer, Reuben Henson, Charles Fisher, Harold Rippen and Orville Blythe.

No Exchange Permitted
 I am what I am, but I wish I were not.
 I'm wholly displeased with the goods that I got.
 The brain does not function—the features are strange—
 How sad that Life's store won't permit an exchange!

It a person thinks he has read, "Gone With The Wind" and can tell you, when asked what the title refers to, rest assured he has read it.

Dinner—Waiter, look at this piece of chicken on my plate. It's nothing but skin and bone!
 Waiter (inquiringly)—Yes, sir. Did you—did you want some of the feathers, too?

A local man says his radio has just three controls—the wife and two daughters.

A messenger entered an elevator and forgot to take off his hat. There was only one other passenger in the elevator, but she was a rather fussy middle-aged woman, and she asked the messenger—

Woman—"Don't you take off your hat to ladies?"
 Messenger—Only to old ones, ma'am.

Clara—That boy friend of yours is the dizziest fellow I ever saw.
 Cora—Well, no wonder; he was an airplane sky writer for four years. . . . In China.

Feminine Secrets
 Another thing I'd like to solve before it gets too late, is how these daughters twenty-four, have mothers twenty-eight?

Reporter—To what do you attribute your great age?
 Old Fellow—To the fact that I was born a long time ago.

Correct this sentence, "Cousin Jane and her children left today after a week's visit with us," said the man, "and the silence at home is dreadful."

Jane—What has your boy friend's army background got to do with his staring at every pretty girl he sees?
 Sue—He was in the observation corps.

Folks are recklessly extravagant in many things. . . . But generally those who contact a printing office register economy, plus mention this in passing as part explanation of those worried lines etched deeply on the editorial face.

 The seed catalog came today. And Dad is marking here and there. The certain items he must have. On hand when spring pervades the air. The yard has long been measured, plotted. Studied pro and con and graded. Mark the places rolled and speeded. What a man! Each spring his garden. Is a picture brightly glowing. But when the summer sun hits ninety. ## BROADWAY: "A YANK AT OXFORD"

Handsome Robert Taylor, America's current film idol, comes into his own in his adventurous tale of an American athlete who goes to England's Oxford with a swelled head and a feeling that the world is his oyster. Van and conceited because of his prowess in matters athletic, he immediately raises the dislike of his English classmates. How the Yankee is brought to realize that humility is a greater virtue than vanity is the problem of the picture. This production gives Mr. Taylor his best opportunity to act his natural self and he takes full advantage of the chance. It is a little, exciting story that centers around a sport's hero who runs his way to victory on the track and who strokes his way to victory in the crew races. Made at the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios outside London, the cast includes such American favorites as Lionel Barrymore and Maureen O'Sullivan plus the capable direction of Jack Conway. Here is a show that should appeal to everyone.

Kingsport: "Double Danger" and "All American Sweetheart." Professional thieves have a wild time of it in the number one attraction on the usual Tuesday double feature bill at the Kingsport and Preston Foster and Whitney Bourne fit through the ex-before the "Jools" are retrieved and love triumphs. "All American Sweetheart" is the other film with Patricia Ellis and Scott Colton.

Orpheum: "Alcatraz Island" and "It Could Happen To You." The rock rubbed island prison in San Francisco Bay is the main cause for all the excitement in the first film at the Orpheum, the story of a reformed crook who is shipped there when enemies plot his downfall and see to it he doesn't get his freedom. Life at Alcatraz is pictured with detail and the show is bristling with sudden death and excitement. "It Could Happen To You" is the associate feature with Alan Baxter and Andrea Leeds.

Tomorrow
 Broadway: "I Met My Love Again." Childhood sweethearts and schoolyard lovers drift apart in the romantic feature at the Broadway and the girl marries for money and discovers her husband to be a bum and the boy becomes a teacher with a lump in his heart and a feeling that he has been done an injustice. Time pushes them farther apart until one day they meet again and the old love flares anew. How the boy and the girl find their late happiness together is the most appealing part of the whole story. The cast stars Henry Fonda and Joan Bennett and features Alan Marshall.

Kingsport: "She Married An Artist" and "Daredevil Drivers." A comedy and a melodrama make up the double feature bill at the Kingsport with the first film trying to be humorous and satirical about the artistic life and the second is a wild and rapid action tale of the racing profession. John Boles is starred in the opening attraction and Dick Purcell and Beverly Roberts are features in the other number.

Orpheum: "Stella Dallas." A woman's sacrifice for love is demonstrated all over again. On the Orpheum screen with the usual results and the famous story of Stella Dallas becomes screen fare both interesting and familiar. Barbara Stanwyck is excellent in the title role and John Boles lends adequate support.

The stone-cutter may hammer a rock a hundred times without anything happening to it. Yet at the very next blow it may split in two. It was not the one blow that accomplished this, but all that had gone before. And such also is life.

Pianist Iturbi's Success Compared To Paderewski's

"Jose Iturbi's success in America has been of the Paderewski order," wrote the New York Journal, and that opinion has been confirmed by every other New York paper.

Lawrence Gilman, the distinguished musicologist and critic of the New York Herald, has written, "He plays Mozart as Mozart himself must have played; with consummate taste, poise, a particular style. His playing was of rare beauty and captivating grace, and it was crowded with delectable minutiae."

According to Olin Downes, of the New York Times, Iturbi has "phenomenal musical and technical equipment, a rare combination of virtuosity, knowledge and taste."

World famous as a pianist, Iturbi had other vision of spreading the world's greatest music and turned to the baton, showing phenomenal skill as a conductor. A lifetime student of orchestral literature and "stuck" technique, Iturbi's golden opportunity came in the spring of 1933, while in Mexico City. He there seized the opportunity to step from the keyboard to the podium, and so successful was he that today his time is divided between piano playing and orchestral conducting.

Born in Valencia in 1895, Iturbi studied first in the Conservatory of his native city, then in Barcelona under Joaquin Malats, last at the Paris Conservatoire from which he graduated with honors when he was 17 years of age. In 1919 he accepted the post of the head of the piano faculty of The Conservatory of Geneva, a position once held by Liszt. He remained there for four years until his concert work allowed him no further time for teaching.

Today Iturbi has toured all of Europe, South America, Cuba, Mexico and the United States and is the idol of every audience which has heard him. Recently, Jose Iturbi was decorated by France with the Croix de Chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

It is interesting to note how Iturbi has won such acclaim looks at himself and his work, and here are some quotations from what he has said along that line, also from what he has said about audiences:

Get at the Cause of Constipation!

You know that constipation often gives you that dopey, sunken, bogged down feeling. Why not get at the cause and fix it?

If you eat what most people do—things like bread, meat and potatoes—the chances are all that's the matter with you is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean what you may think. It's a kind of food that isn't entirely digested, but leaves a soft, bulky mass in the intestines that aids elimination.

If this is your trouble, what you need is a dish of crisp, crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day. It contains the "bulk" you need, plus Nature's intestinal tonic vitamin B<sub>1</sub> and iron.

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and see if the old world doesn't look a lot brighter! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

is everything. When people leave a concert at which I have played or conducted I do not want them to go out of the hall saying, 'He was marvelous tonight. Did you notice how he waved his arms?' I can say that I do not want to thrill audiences. I want them to thrill to the music, not me. . . . When they leave the hall saying, 'Isn't the Eroica grand music?' I am content."

"One of the best things about concerts is that you can tell whether you did the thing you wanted to. Some people always tell you it was fine. But those who matter will tell you the truth. The crowds that come up after concerts do not tell me when they say honest things. When I am very tired they rest me. Parents, particularly mothers, often push children through the crowd for me to see and ask: 'Do you think there is a future in music for my little boy?' How can I tell. All I can say is, 'There is more future in music today than ever before. Never has there been such opportunity for honest music. The world is hungry for musicians who will play for them music of the masters and not try to be bigger shots than Beethoven.'"

"On things more, I disagree with all the people who claim that the future of music lies in America. I believe that the present of music is in America."

Jose Iturbi, this world's greatest musician will give the third of the series of four Cooperative Concert Association concerts at the Kingston High School auditorium on the evening of Monday, April 1, at 8:30 o'clock.

Seeks to Retain Profits Tax Plan

tion has been interpreted as prohibiting federal taxing of state and local government securities and state taxing of federal securities.

(Glass proposed that income from exempted securities should be used to determine the tax bracket under which a person should come even though the income from the exempt securities could not be taxed.)

Opposes Liquor Tax Plan

The undersecretary announced Treasury opposition to the increased liquor tax and the special import tax on pork which were put in the bill by the House after it left the ways and means committee. He estimated the increased liquor tax would yield only approximately $19,000,000 per year and that the pork tariff would produce no revenue.

"Consumption taxes in general take little account of the income or wealth of the taxpayer. Consequently, the Treasury has held the view, expressed by the secretary last fall, that the number of consumption taxes should be reduced as the state of the revenues permits."

He noted that the House ways and means committee recommended repeal of several of the so-called "nuisance" taxes which now bring in about $39,000,000 per year.

Poultrymen Support Egg Campaign

The poultrymen of Ulster county are supporting the national movement to increase egg consumption by the purchase of labels for use on egg cases, etc. John J. Miller of Lomontville is a member of the New York Egg Consumption committee, representing Albany, Greene, Saratoga, Schoharie and Ulster counties. He has asked the Farm Bureau Office to handle the labels locally to make it convenient for poultrymen to purchase them. Any additional poultrymen interested in supporting the movement are invited to purchase labels now.

The national, regional and state committees have secured the cooperation of many stores and other agencies to encourage the consumption of eggs. It is a tremendous industry effort, from producer to consumer, for the welfare of everyone. Eggs are a healthful food, now low in price and increased consumption will enable poultrymen to buy the products of industry in larger quantities.

Holmes' "Chronicles" were one of the sources used by Shakespeare for his plays.

Morgan Refuses To Quit TVA

ousting by confirming or rejecting the successor.

Might Suspend Him

Some legislators expressed the belief Mr. Roosevelt might suspend Morgan until a congressional committee could inquire thoroughly into the feud among the TVA directors. Then the Senate and House could decide whether to remove the chairman.

"I think the sentiment of Congress is in favor of an investigation," said Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader. Barkley declared that under the constitution the President has the power to remove the TVA head, appointed by Mr. Roosevelt five years ago.

Morgan's supporters, however, have contended the TVA act provides that only Congress can remove any of the directors.

Bridges Has Plan

Senator Bridges (R-N. H.), a TVA critic, said that if Morgan were forced out, he would introduce a resolution to remove Directors David E. Lilienthal and H. A. Morgan.

Most observers expected Morgan to fight the President's action through the courts, although he said he had not determined his future course.

It appeared certain he would participate in any congressional investigation, for he has repeatedly said that was the only way to show up accurately conditions in the TVA.

Yesterday's meeting between Mr. Roosevelt and the three TVA directors was brimming with drama. It was called after Morgan twice had refused to substantiate his accusations against the two other board members.

Lilienthal and H. A. Morgan previously had given testimony in support of their counter-charges that Chairman Morgan had obstructed TVA activities.

Mr. Roosevelt Says

Morgan declined once more to speak. Then the President said these blunt words of the man whom he had described only a few minutes before as a "very old friend":

"Arthur L. Morgan has failed to sustain the grave and libelous charges of dishonesty and want of integrity which he has made against his fellow directors; his conduct in this respect is legally and morally unjustified."

"On the face of the record, the charges of the other directors that Arthur L. Morgan has obstructed the work and injured the morale of the organization of the Tennessee Valley Authority must be accepted as true; he has refused to offer testimony in denial of the charges."

"Arthur L. Morgan is guilty of insubordination and contumacy in refusing to submit to the Chief Executive's demand for any facts upon which he based charges of dishonesty and want of integrity on the part of his fellow directors."

Unless he resigned or withdrew

TVA CHAIRMAN REFUSES TO RESIGN

Dr. Arthur E. Morgan refused to resign as chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority and challenged President Roosevelt's power to remove him from office. Morgan is shown (left) as he emerged from a White House conference at which the President gave him the alternative of withdrawing his charges against the other two members of the board or resigning. A reporter is seen interviewing him.

Accident Case Goes to Jury

Testimony was concluded in the action brought by George Westerfield against Quandt Brewing Company of Troy and the sum of damages was made at the opening of court this morning. After the court's charge the matter will be submitted to the jury for decision.

Mr. Westerfield brings an action to recover damages for injuries which he suffered in a crash between the car in which he was riding and a brewery truck in February of 1936. He claims an injury to his arm and still was being treated.

The next case on the calendar is an action to set aside a deed brought by Benjamin Wilhelm and others against Clara Mance and another. Letny Lounsbury appears for plaintiff and Jules Ewig for defendant. The controversy arises over title to property at Cragmoor.

Mr. Westerfield brings an action to recover damages for injuries which he suffered in a crash between the car in which he was riding and a brewery truck in February of 1936. He claims an injury to his arm and still was being treated.

OBSERVE JUBILEE OF AFRICAN SULTAN

Hailed by Tribesmen as Lord of Their World.

Washington, D. C.—Tom-toms in deepest Africa and bugles in Britain beyond, echoed the recent celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the accession of Khalifa bin Harub to the sultanate of Zanzibar.

"To native tribesmen, even of the far interior of Africa, the sultan is lord of their world, of which Zanzibar city is the Mecca and Paris all rolled into one," says the National Geographic society. "The British, of course, have a commonwealth interest in the sultanate as well as a liking for hams and stewed fruits subtly spiced with Zanzibar cloves."

"Shaped roughly like a huge boat, Zanzibar 'rides an anchor' twenty miles off the coast of British East Africa. It points its coral prow into the north. Its port side carries a cargo of tropical plants and trees; the starboard a mass of gray rock, some coral, and a few leopards, trying to feel at home in the scattered scrub growth. Life aboard is moist for Europeans who drip with perspiration all year round, or become drenched by constant heavy rains."

Clove Their Standby.

"The clove makes agriculture the island's industrial standby. Extensive groves of clove trees, with their shiny, evergreen leaves, cover almost half the island. The clove 'bush,' a tree from 30 to 40 feet high, smells better than it looks."

"Far from Zanzibar shores 10,000 tons of native cloves clove foreign fruits and delicate meals. And coconuts, along with the hottest pepper in the world, rice and many fruits, find ready markets at home and abroad. Maize, groundnuts, sesame, yams, and various kinds of beans also are widely cultivated and exported while enough tobacco is grown for home consumption."

"The coconut palm is a prominent feature of Zanzibar's rank tropical vegetation. Wealth on the island is often reckoned, especially among the poorer classes, in coconut or clove trees; the value of an estate also depends somewhat upon the number of these trees it contains."

"Fishing employs many natives. Great quantities of shell-fish and clams are consumed, and particularly pleasing to the islander's palate is the cuttle fish or squid. Women knead the squids while still alive in order to eliminate acid and poisonous juices, and then hang them up in the sunny streets to dry."

"Locally manufactured rope offers a large trade. Exported to East Africa, it also supplies native shipping. Village women do all the work of turning the raw fiber into the finished rope."

"Constant wars in western Asia and valuable natural resources in East Africa led Arabs, Persians, and Indians Zanzibar-way from the earliest times until the end of the Nineteenth century. As the island developed into the entrepot for East African trade, its gates were opened to representatives of many European countries, as well as cannibals from the Congo, Chinese and Japanese, Syrian Jews and Turks, Singalese, Goanese, Baluchis, Egyptians, Nubians, and Ethiopians."

"The bulk of Zanzibar's inhabitants, however, is a mixed race of negro stock—the Swahili. Their skin runs the gamut of brown, depending upon the amount of Asiatic blood in their veins."

"Muhogo—a starchy root of the cassava plant—is bread to a Zanzibar native. There are two varieties: sweet, which is eaten raw; and bitter or poisonous which requires sun-drying before it is fit for human consumption. The bitter kind is used largely for cattle fodder. Muhogo cultivation suits the black man's temperament, for it needs a minimum of attention. Being a tuber, neither birds nor locusts can injure it. Wild pigs, however, often damage crops."

Police Investigate Death of Clark

William Clark, an odd job man, who had been residing in the upper section of the city for the past quarter century, died at the Kingston Hospital of a fractured skull Monday night about 9 o'clock. Clark had been found dangerously ill in a barn on North Front street, near Crown street, late Sunday afternoon and the man was removed to the hospital in the Conner ambulance.

Clark was known as "Kindling Wood Bill," which nickname had been given him a number of years ago.

Following his death in the hospital an autopsy was performed and Dr. Kenneth LeFever later reported to the police department that death was due to a skull fracture. The police are now conducting an investigation in an effort to ascertain how Clark was injured.

Appellate Court To Hear Gonzalez Arguments Today

Scheduled for argument this afternoon before the Appellate Division in the appeal in the Prudencio (alias Red Rubio) Gonzalez and Jose (alias Joseph) Gonzalez cases, two Ulster county actions which were tried about two years ago in county court and resulted in severe sentences being imposed by County Judge Traver when the jury found the men guilty of robbery, first degree.

District Attorney Cleon B. Murray will appear for The People in opposition to the appeal which will be argued by Francis T. Murray, who degraded the two Spaniards on the trial here.

The robbery for which Prudencio was sentenced to a term of from 15 to 25 years at hard labor in Clinton State Prison in Dannemora and Jose was given a sentence of from 10 to 15 years took place at a Spanish road camp in Kerhonkson on October 12, 1931.

Operated by Rodriguez

At that time the Kerhonkson commissary and boarding house was being operated for road employees by Rodriguez, who alleged that in the early morning when men entered his place and lined up the men who were just getting around for the day's work. Those on the first floor were lined up against the wall and as the other men came down they were also lined up and robbed. It was charged that the men were believed of some $1,500 in cash by the robbers who flashed guns and demanded money. One of the bandits who wore a stocking over his face with eye holes mounted the table in dramatic fashion and gave orders to the other robbers.

On the trial the Gonzalez, born Spanish born, gave a defense alibi, alleging that they were elsewhere on the day of the robbery.

Burden of Proof

The prosecution bore the burden of proving identity of the bandits. It was testified to the trial that Prudencio was the man with the stocking over his face and he was identified by several of the men.

One witness, Quintanilla, testified he saw Prudencio two days before the robbery at the Raymond Agudo camp nearby. The camp was a rival institution. He testified that after talking to someone at the Agudo camp Prudencio came to the Rodriguez camp and talked to the cook there.

It was inferred by the testimony that the Agudo camp was closed up and left the locality after the robbery had been used as an "informant" for the defendants.

At Large Long Time

While the robbery took place in October of 1931 it was not until some time later that the defendants were located and returned to Ulster county for trial. The indictment in which the Gonzalez boys were named also named three other defendants but these have never been located. It is known that at least one of them returned to Spain after the trial. The Gonzalez trial was held in April of 1936 and on April 30, 1936 the two were convicted and sentenced. When sentence was pronounced, Judge Prudencio Gonzalez fainting in court.

It was also in the Gonzalez case that one of the defendants after conviction threatened Mr. Murray. "I'll get you sometime in this," the defendant said, and Murray replied, "I'll be sucking around."

He'll Get His Gift.

Twins, As Usual

Lynnfield, Mass., March 22 (AP)—Six years ago, when a maternity nurse said "twins" to Terrence Gibbons, he was unprepared and showed it. Last night, when another nurse emerged from his wife's hospital room, Gibbons beat her to it. "Twins?" he said. The nurse nodded. It was an easy guess for Gibbons; the new arrivals were the fourth set of twins born to his 31-year-old wife, Evelyn, in six years. The boy and girl born last night brought the Gibbons' family to nine. Only their first-born, now a boy of seven, was not a twin.

Schirick Fixes Alimony at $15

Justice Harry E. Schirick has signed an order of modification in an action brought by Helen Abbott against James W. Abbott, an action for divorce. The order of Justice Schirick was made after argument of a show cause order issued by Justice Bergan and returned Saturday. Mr. Abbott, through his attorney, sought to have an order of the court fixing alimony at $25 per week reduced to $15, and also for discharge from jail.

In his affidavit to the court he said he had been confined to jail for a long time because he had been unable to pay the $25 a week alimony after he lost his job. He asked the court to reduce the payment to $15 a week and to permit him to leave jail where he was being held for contempt of court for failure to pay. He said he had a job offered him and could make the $15 weekly payments.

Justice Schirick amended the decree of divorce granted March 16, 1932, by fixing the alimony at $15 per week and directed that the defendant be discharged from jail so that he might get work and make payments.

Claims Injury Is Permanent

Continuing his action in supreme court before Justice Francis Bergan and a jury yesterday afternoon, testimony was offered by George Westerfield, of Hurley, plaintiff, in an action brought against Quandt Brewing Company of Troy defendants, to the effect that he is suffering from a permanent injury as a result of an accident on February 19, 1936, south of Albany. Westerfield riding in a car operated by Wilson Norwood, of Hurley, was injured when a Quandt brewery truck and the Norwood car were in collision.

Three doctors testified to treating Mr. Westerfield following the accident for injuries to his left arm and shoulder. It is alleged that neuritis which set in after the injury has limited use of the arm. Dr. George S. Warren, Dr. Kenneth LeFevre and Dr. Royal S. Broberg all testified to treatments given to the arm.

In opposition the defense swore Dr. Fred Snyder, who testified he had examined the plaintiff in July of 1936, and while he found a tenderness about the arm he found no limited motion.

Possession Is Nine Points of the Law; Or Is It Mr. Harp

Attorney Lloyd R. LeFevre is wearing a new hat well in advance of Easter and ex-Mayor Peter H. Harp of New Paltz is wondering whether he believed in signs or not.

The whole affair came about because Peter and Lloyd wear the same size hat and both happened to have business at the County Clerk's office on the same day.

Former Mayor Harp entered the office and finding the climate warm doffed his new hat in the front office and then entered the vault to do some business of searching. In the vault was also Mr. LeFevre who was searching records. The two attorneys stopped to exchange greetings and when Peter left the old "rainy day" hat of Mr. LeFevre also left unnoticed by Mr. LeFevre.

Another Type of Search
Later when he started for his office Mr. LeFevre missed his rather well-worn hat and recalled that the former mayor of New Paltz had been displaying his blond locks as he entered but had been wearing a brown hat when he left. It was not necessary to call in the B. C. J. Mr. LeFevre took up the search for Peter's hat and located it.

The hat was of the latest style and absolutely new. But as Mr. LeFevre picked up the hat to look at the size he was greeted with a rather awe-inspiring notation inside the hat-band. It read, "Peter Harp" and also in addition was the notation, "Like He—It's yours, put it back." Despite this warning Mr. LeFevre was observed to depart with a brand new Easter hat cocked jauntily upon his head and a broad smile upon his face. Later Peter was observed walking not so jauntily down the street with a rather battered brown hat set not too jauntily upon his head. He apparently was wondering just what good a snappy sign in a hat really was between friends.

Rosendale
At the last regular meeting of the Rosendale Grange, No. 1591, P. of H., a motion was made and carried, to produce a Grange minstrel. Edward Brodsky and Mary L. O'Connor were appointed by the master, Henry Mollenhauer, to take charge of this affair.

Mr. Brodsky has announced that the first meeting will be held at his home in Maple Hill on Thursday evening, March 24, at 8 o'clock. The purpose of this meeting is to select a show and cast the characters.
All members of the Rosendale Grange, who are interested in taking part in this show, are invited to report.
